~~During transcription, a DNA strand is used to produce a complementary strand of mRNA, with uracil taking the place of adenine. During translation, each base in the mRNA results in an amino acid being added to a chain, and a protein is formed. DNA unwinds into two separate strands, and a complementary copy of each is produced during replication.~~

~~Like DNA, RNA is composed of nucleotide bases. RNA however, contains the nucleotides adenine, guanine, cytosine, and uracil (U). When RNA polymerase transcribes the DNA, guanine pairs with cytosine and adenine pairs with uracil. Termination: RNA polymerase moves along the DNA until it reaches a terminator sequence.~~
